

Hot Issues In M&A And Corporate Transactions

Françoise Gilbert

is a practicing attorney, and the CEO/Founder of the IT Law Group, www.itlawgroup.com, a law firm headquartered in Palo Alto, California. Ms. Gilbert has extensive experience with domestic and global data privacy and security issues, Internet, eBusiness and information technology. She has assisted clients in incorporating privacy and security in their operations, offerings, or websites; counseled on compliance; structured strategies for global expansion; designed and implemented privacy and security policies and procedures, data protection programs, data transfer programs, anti-spam compliance programs, and training programs. In connection with mergers & acquisitions and other transactions, she has directed due diligence efforts, contract drafting and negotiations, and all phases of audit, contract performance supervision, and compliance review. She can be reached at fgilbert@itlawgroup.com. © 2007 IT Law Group.

Françoise Gilbert

Update your M&A due diligence checklist—or it may cost you a million dollars.

A RECENT ACTION by the New York State Attorney General Eliot Spitzer will change the way companies look at email marketing and privacy compliance. This case affects the manner in which companies conduct due diligence, and complete corporate or commercial transactions. This article analyzes this recent case and suggests measures to be taken by companies to reduce their exposure and liability.